

ARRAY CHALLENGE 1

Write a program, `SmallestIndex`, which establishes an int array and collects its size from the user. The program should prompt the user to enter values ranging from 1-100, collecting each of the user's responses into the array.

The program should then compare the user inputs and output the index of the smallest value in the array, as well as the value itself. (Hint: Think Greatest and Least of these).